

At the center of a uniquely engaged Northwest culture is OPB. We are the hub of a community that thrives on dialogue, public involvement, respect and a love for this place we call home.

OPB serves our community with public service journalism that connects us to each other and to our state, region, nation and the world. We provide in-depth, trusted news and award-winning, accessible content that no other media outlet in the region can offer. This content can be accessed anywhere, at any time on OPB TV, OPB Radio, opb.org and on a variety of digital and social media platforms.

OPB places special emphasis on creating content that features the people, places and issues of importance to those in the Northwest—stories that simply would not be told elsewhere. Our newsroom expands across the region, from southern Washington to southern Oregon, to deliver in-depth reporting in news, arts and culture, and the environment. We offer this content leveraging our powerful broadcast and digital platforms.

OPB is a nationally recognized leader in public media, providing news, information and entertainment to the Northwest and beyond. With award-winning journalists and original series, OPB illuminates the people, places and issues of the region and puts stories into context.

OPB's Mission

Oregon Public Broadcasting: giving voice to the community, connecting Oregon and its neighbors, illuminating a wider world.

OPB's Commitment

OPB values our listeners, viewers and readers and the unique blend of ideas and attitudes that they bring to Oregon and the Northwest. We know it is our responsibility to find those who will further our mission by giving voice to our community in all its diversity, and we are wholly committed to doing so.

Information, Activities and Initiatives

OPB's workforce represents our communities, with a wealth of diversity in race and ethnicity, nationality, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, socio-economic status, etc. Over 60 percent of OPB's supervisors are female and 19 percent of all supervisors are racially and/or ethnically diverse.

OPB's Board of Directors' bylaws continue OPB's commitment to diversity by seeking "...to nominate persons with diverse needs and interests within the company's service area." OPB's Community Advisory Board's bylaws reinforce this with "...members shall represent the diverse needs and interests of the Corporation's service area."

Also, employment opportunities at OPB are posted on the OPB website. The employment opportunities landing page includes our commitment as stated above to ensure all who may consider employment at OPB are aware of OPB's continued commitment to reflect the richness of diversity in our community.

As part of our outreach efforts, job opportunities are sent, or posted, to many local, regional, and national diversity organizations including, but not limited to: Oregon Advocacy Commission, Hispanic Metro Chamber of Commerce, Affiliated Tribes of Northwest Indians, Klamath Tribes Newsletter, Asian Health & Services Center, Urban League of Portland, Women in Film Portland, National Association of Hispanic Journalists, Asian American Journalists Association, National Association of Black Journalists, Native American Journalists Association, Pacific Islanders in Communications, Latino Public Radio Consortium, Blacks in Technology, Women in Technology (National and Regional), Latinos in Information Science and Technology Association, Women in Technology International, South Asia Journalists Association, and Goodwill Job Connection. More information about our employment recruitment sources and efforts can be found in our annual FCC EEO Report.

OPB's commitment and efforts relating to inclusion and diversity include local, regional, and national outreach efforts, providing meaningful professional-level internship programs which create career pathways for traditionally underrepresented individuals, and participating in targeted job fairs.

- OPB joined NPR and two dozen other public media organizations from across the country as part of the public media recruiting efforts called Think Public Media at the following 2018 conventions and their associated career fairs:
  - National Association of Black Journalists (NABJ) considered the nation's largest annual gathering of journalist of color;
  - Asian American Journalists Association (AAJA), and

- Joint conference of the National Association of Hispanic Journalists (NAHJ) and the Native American Journalists Association (NAJA).
  - The OPB staff attending the various conferences and staffing the career fair booth included: OPB's recruitment manager, several reporters, an on-air announcer, and a digital producer.
- OPB participated in the Northwest Youth Careers Expo on March 14, 2017. This event hosted more than 6,000 high school students from more than 75 schools across Oregon and SW Washington.
- OPB's Manager of Volunteer Resources visited the University of Oregon's School of Journalism and Communications on October 11 and 12th, 2017, talking with 10 classes about working in public media. She also conducted multiple faculty visits, hosted an informational session for students, and presented to an estimated total of 430 students.
- On October 16, 2017, OPB's Manager of Volunteer Resources also presented to a Mass Communications class of 15 students at Portland Community College.
- On July 20th, 2018, OPB's HR Director served on a panel for IRCO's (Immigrant and Refugee Community Organization) emerging professionals' group. IRCO's mission is to promote the integration of refugees, immigrants and the community at large into a self-sufficient, healthy and inclusive multi-ethnic society. The panel talked about their own experiences as HR professionals, and made recommendations for the attendees and their clients regarding interviewing, recruiting, developing talent, etc. Some of the attendees are responsible for connecting recent immigrants with employment opportunities.
- Throughout the year OPB's Manager of Recruitment and Benefits meets and speaks with students in person, via telephone, and via email to answer questions and provide guidance about the job search process and also to facilitate visits to OPB (such as when Linfield College's career center brought a group of students to OPB in January 2018 for a question and answer session about career development), where students interested in media careers may spend a day onsite and sit in on in the news meetings and the production of OPB's daily radio public-affairs talk show, "Think Out Loud."
- In November 2017, OPB's General Counsel (GC) was the guest lecturer for a legal writing class at Lewis & Clark Law School in Oregon. The teaching assistant had been one of OPB's 2017 summer interns. One of these class members is now interning with OPB this summer.

- In August 2018, OPB's Assistant General Counsel spoke to the incoming class of first-year law students at Lewis & Clark Law School about professionalism and ethics.
- An OPB Reporter/Producer worked with Warm Springs tribal communities in an outreach capacity while attending a recent tribal event.
- An OPB Reporter/Producer sat on the Creative Heights Grant selection committee for the Oregon Community Foundation, which awarded a number of grants to diverse applicants working in media arts.
- OPB sent 11 staff members to the PGE Diversity Summit in May 2018. Following the summit, each attendee shared their learnings by writing a post for our intranet, called The Way Forward.
- As part of our onboarding, OPB invites new hires to Say Hey! which convenes business and community leaders to welcome professionals of color who recently relocated to Oregon and SW Washington.

Internships

OPB continues our robust internship program. OPB's internships are updated and enhanced annually (see more information in the internships descriptions below). During the past year, OPB provided 23 individuals with unpaid educational experiences. In addition to the many unpaid internship opportunities throughout the organization, OPB offers the following paid internships.

- Last year, OPB introduced a new paid Internship for Emerging Journalists, creating another public media career pathway for traditionally underrepresented individuals. This new paid internship joins another paid internship, OPB's long-standing Jon R. Tuttle Journalism and Production Minority Internship. OPB placed one intern in this program this year.
- OPB offers the Jon R. Tuttle Journalism and Production Minority Internship. This internship is intended to increase participation of racial and/or ethnic minorities, as defined by the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), who are traditionally underrepresented within public media. The Tuttle Internship is a paid summer internship in telecommunications and broadcast journalism that enables an outstanding college or university student to spend the summer studying the field full time in a hands-on environment. A number of OPB senior executives actively participate in the reviewing and selection of the Tuttle intern. OPB had one Tuttle intern last summer.

- OPB has paid internships in partnership with the Charles Snowden Foundation through their Charles Snowden Program for Excellence in Journalism. OPB along with other Oregon college educators and Northwest news media organizations give accomplished students professional training in community journalism through 10-week summer internships. OPB is the only non-print media organization in Oregon in this program. OPB had two Snowden interns this year.

Additional Information regarding Unpaid Internship Opportunities

Content Creation Internships (year-round):

OPB seeks intern candidates to participate in content creation at OPB. OPB relies on a multi-platform approach. Content creators in all departments are tasked with generating story elements that will be translatable to more than one medium. We seek students with experience and interest in all parts of the storytelling and production process. Content Creation Interns may be placed in departments such as TV Production, News, Digital Content or Music. Projects and programs may include Oregon Art Beat, Think Out Loud, State of Wonder, opbmusic and more. Internship opportunities in these areas vary a great deal, dependent on the time of year, current projects and the needs of the organization. We strive to place students in internships that align with their skills and interest. This past year there were 23 interns involved in content creation.

Content Creation Internship Opportunities include:

- Field Videography/Studio Production
- Field Recording/Audio Production (using Audition)
- Graphic Design (using Adobe CS and other tools)
- Interviewing
- Moving Graphic Design (using Adobe Aftereffects)
- Multimedia Journalism Content (creating pieces to enhance written content)
- Music (working with music cultivation, artists, events, daily station tasks)
- News gathering, reporting, writing
- Photography
- Research (historical, primary sources, compiling)
- Sound recording and editing (using ProTools or Adobe Audition)
- Show production and support (pre and post, detail coordination, processes and timelines, research, logging, documentation, etc.)

- Video editing (using FinalCut Pro, AVID or Premiere)
- Writing for web

Business and Operational Internships (year-round):

OPB seeks intern candidates for departments throughout the organization. Our internship programs provide students with the opportunity to observe and participate in the daily activities and long-term projects involving all areas of OPB's work. Business and Operational Internships may provide students with experience in departments such as Development, Marketing, Engineering, Human and Volunteer Resources, Programming and more. There were 3 business and operational interns this past year.

Business and Operational Internship Opportunities include:

- Broadcast engineering (technical management)
- Fundraising (various disciplines including planned giving, member communications, donor programs and more)
- Graphic Design (using Adobe CS and other tools)
- Human and Volunteer Resource strategy, Organizational Communications

- Research (government policy, industry trends, labor law)
- Social Media Marketing
- Software development (Django, python, iOS, Android)

International Partnerships and Fellowships

In May 2018, OPB hosted a delegation of Ukrainian public broadcasters at OPB. They were part of an exchange program which is seeking to strengthen Ukraine's nascent public media ecosystem. OPB's CEO has some involvement in this effort for the past three years and first went to Kiev in June 2015. OPB has shared some programming with UA, the national public broadcasting network, including OPB's Oregon Field Guide, Oregon Art Beat, and the Rick Steves series. The delegation was very interested in how OPB creates and distributes multiplatform content.

As part of this exchange, in June 2018, OPB's CEO, along with CPB's COO, visited and worked with the National Public Broadcasting Company of Ukraine in three different cities – Kiev, Vinnytsia and Chernihiv. 10 day visit along with CPB's COO Michael Levy.

DIVERSITY IN OPB-CREATED CONTENT

OPB enables our workforce to fully embrace our commitment to represent the diversity of our communities in our work. Everyday OPB's multi-platform content illuminates the richness of our community. Below is a sampling of OPB-produced content that reflects our diverse communities.
